

Analysis report of WeRateDogs

Introduction

This report illustrates a brief analysis of the twitter account WeRateDogs, performed after the Wrangling of that date (See wrangling\_report.pdf).

This is part of Project 4 of the Udacity NanoDegree Data Analyst course.

Summary:

Some questions were raised during not only the analysis process, but also during the wrangling. This report shows:

-What are the most rated and likeable dogs? If a post is retweeted, would that mean that people liked it? How many breeds were rated? What is the split among the “dog stages”, according to the “dogtioneary” below?

THE DOGTIONARY

doggo
/'dogo/
noun

1. A big pupper, usually older. This label does not stop a doggo from behaving like a pupper.
2. A pupper that appears to have its life in order. Probably understands taxes and whatnot.

"That's a really good doggo."
"I give my doggo a firm pat every night before bed."

pupper
/'popa/
noun

1. A small doggo, usually younger. Can be equally, if not more mature than some doggos.
2. A doggo that is inexperienced, unfamiliar, or in any way unprepared for the responsibilities associated with being a doggo.

"H*ck, that's one pettable pupper."
"How many puppers could I fit on my body at once, if I were lying down?"

puppo
/'papo/
noun

1. A transitional phase between pupper and doggo. Easily understood as the dog equivalent of a teenager.
2. A dog with a mixed bag of both pupper and doggo tendencies.

"My puppo is still learning what it takes to be a trustworthy doggo."
"I would hug that puppo so passionately."

blep
/'blep/
verb

1. An extremely subtle act that occurs without the knowledge of the one who slips. The act includes one's tongue protruding ever so slightly from the mouth, usually just noticeable enough that it attracts the attention it deserves. Can last between three seconds and four days.

"My doggo did a h*ck of a blep the other day."
"Get a load of this blep I captured."

snoot
/'snoot/
noun

1. The nose of a dog. Usually found in places the dog may not fit. The location of the snoot may hint at where the dog's interest lies.

"That is a beautiful snoot."
"I've been trying to boop my neighbor's dog's snoot for six years."

floof
/'floof, 'floo/
noun

1. Any dog really. However, this label is commonly given to dogs with seemingly excess fur. Comical amounts of fur on a dog will certainly earn the dog this generic name.
2. Dog fur. The term holds true whether the fur is still on the dog, or if it has been shed off.

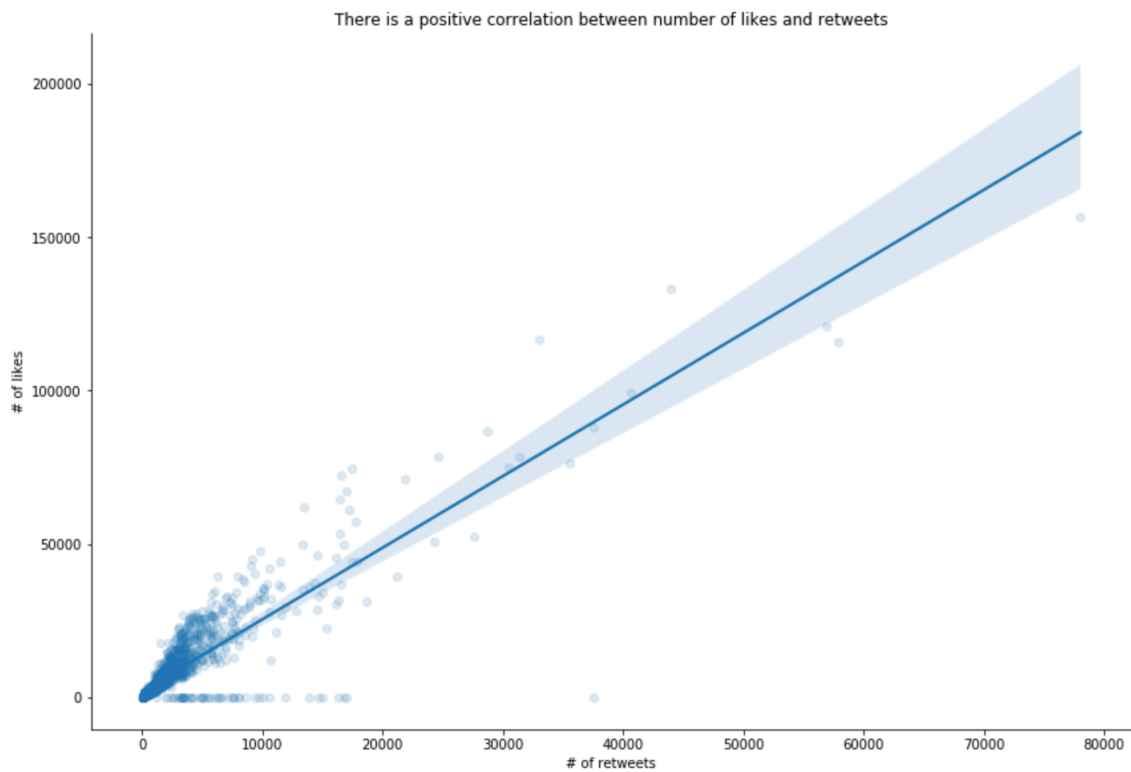

"Check out that majestic floof!"
"The floof on my dog has gotten out of control but I don't see anybody complaining any time soon."

The Dogtioneary explains the various stages of dog: doggo, pupper, puppo, and floofer)
(via the #WeRateDogs book on Amazon)

a) 113 breeds in total were evaluated, b) and out of the top #3 dogs, 2 are from the “retriever” family, where the Golden Retriever is by far the most favorite dog breed:

c) The more likes a post had, the more it has been retweeted, showing a strong correlation between those, and that people usually repost what they like:

d) on the dog_stages, here you have the split (please refer to image on page 1 to get a refresh on each stage type):
